

CANDID CREATURES:

How Camera Traps Reveal the Mysteries of Nature

03.30 – 03.31.17

Candid Creatures: How Camera Traps Reveal the Mysteries of Nature, Beniot Goossens

Roland Kays, a wildlife biologist at North Carolina State University, will talk about how he uses camera traps to understand the behavior of wild animals and motivate public interest in species conservation.

Sponsored by the Pratt Academic Senate.

LECTURE:

THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 6 PM

E-2 LECTURE HALL, ARC BUILDING, LOWER LEVEL
PRATT INSTITUTE, 200 WILLOUGHBY AVENUE, BROOKLYN

The lecture is free and open to the Pratt community and to the public.
Doors open at 5:45 PM.

WORKSHOP:

FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 2-5 PM

E-6, ARC BUILDING, LOWER LEVEL
PRATT INSTITUTE, 200 WILLOUGHBY AVENUE, BROOKLYN

RSVP is required for participation.
Space is limited so please RSVP no later than midnight on March 30.

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND WORKSHOP RSVP

CHRIS JENSEN, CJENSEN@PRATT.EDU AND ANDY TODD, ATODD2@PRATT.EDU